Jesper Tække, Master, Ph.D., is associate professor in media studies at Aarhus University, Department of Communication and Culture, and a member of the Center for Internet Research. Jesper's research interest mainly concerns the interaction between humans, the social, and communication media, which is expressed in analyzes and theories about how digital media affects social identity, interaction, organization, education, and society. His empirical work has mainly focused on the digital media revolution in the education system. He has organized and participated in several research projects such as the Socio Media Education Project. Jesper has published several books and articles about media sociology and media education. In 2022 he co-authored the book: A New Perspective on Education in the Digital Age: Teaching, Media and Bildung at Bloomsbury Academic. The book shows that education needs to be rethought, resituated and developed anew in the digital age. For more information see: <https://jespertaekke.dk/en/>
