

Dr. Milan Vukic

Dr. Milan Vukic serves as an Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Technology Zvornik, part of the University of East Sarajevo (UES), Bosnia and Herzegovina. With a substantial background in food science research.

Dr. Vukic has accumulated extensive research experience, participating in numerous international and national programs dedicated to advancing food science. Dr. Vukic's academic career includes over 40 publications, additionally, he has been actively involved in more than 30 conferences, sharing his expertise on topics such as functional foods, food safety, and innovative technologies.

Beyond academia, Dr. Vukic has played a vital role in advising policymakers on issues related to functional foods, food safety, and innovative technologies. He has also provided guidance and supervision to numerous bachelor students, master's candidates, and aspiring researchers, contributing to the development of future talent in food science.

Dr. Vukic has been appointed as an editorial board member for several esteemed international journals. He has also assumed roles as a scientific or organizing committee member of scientific conferences.

Additionally, Dr. Vukic serves as a board member of the Iseki Food Association, holding the position of National Representative for Bosnia and Herzegovina. Dr. Vukic is also a Global Harmonization Initiative (GHI) Ambassador for Bosnia and Herzegovina and a member of European Federation of Chemical Engineering (EFCE).

Links:

Milan Vukić | LinkedIn

Milan Vukic \(researchgate.net\)